The above table shows the number of scholars in each district; the number attending the Summer, Fall and Winter terms of school; the average attendance at same; the length of each term; the wages of male teachers per month, and of female teachers per week; and price of board, so far as could be obtained from registers returned.

We also give a few additional facts in relation to each school.

REPORT OF S. S. COMMITTEE.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

The teacher seemed interested in her work, but there was not the thoroughness which we like to see. Fair work was done in Arithmetic. The Winter term is still in session.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

The Summer and Fall terms were characterized by good attention and careful study, and correct and efficient teaching. They were two very profitable terms of school.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

The pupils made rapid improvement. The experience the teacher has had enabled her to give thorough and systematic instruction, and to secure the interest and attention of her scholars.

Fall Term. The scholars were attentive to their work, and seemed to realize the value of time spent in school, and were well rewarded for being studious.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

The methods used in giving instruction, and maintaining order were commendable. The school was orderly, and good advancement was made. The Winter term is still in session, in care of a teacher who is thorough in his method of instruction.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Summer and Fall Terms. At our several visits we found the scholars orderly and studious, and the teacher faithful and efficient. The progress was satisfactory. The Winter term is still in session.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Summer Term. A fair degree of improvement was manifest, but if a little more attention had been given to discipline the school would have presented a better appearance. During the Fall term there was a lack of system and thoroughness, both in the instruction and government of the school, consequently the term was unprofitable. The Winter term is yet in session under the care of a teacher who has taken much interest in her school, and her services are proving very beneficial to her pupils. Good attention to study on the part of the scholars has been manifest at our several visits, and in every respect their behavior has been very commendable.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Summer and Fall Terms. The teaching in both terms was thorough, but there was a lack of discipline. The teacher in the Winter term has done much to awaken and sustain an interest among his scholars. At our last visit good progress was apparent, and the school appeared orderly.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Summer Term. A good degree of interest was manifested on the part of both teacher and scholars, with good success.

Fall Term. Fair progress was made, but there did not appear to be that sympathy between the teacher and scholars, that is so essential to gain the highest results. The Winter term is in progress and is successful.

DISTRICT NO 9.

On account of sickness in the District, the school closed before a second visit was made, and for that reason we are unable to give the results. The Winter term is yet in progress, and has been visited but once, when the appearance of the school was highly satisfactory.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

The manner of teaching in general was thorough and correct. Had the teacher been a little more firm in government her efforts would have resulted in greater good.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Miss Clarke's method of imparting instruction meets our approval with one exception. She did not appear to have that knowledge of grammar which would enable her to teach it correctly. The Winter term is still in progress.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

The teacher being inexperienced, was not able to manage the school successfully; hence the term was not so profitable as is desirable.

Fall Term. The teacher manifested the same interest and ability in this school that she did in District No. 3, with good results. The Winter term is still in session.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

The Summer term closed prematurely, on account of sickness among the scholars. It was visited near its commencement, and found to be in good condition, and in charge of a teacher of large experience and ability. The Winter term is yet in progress, and being under efficient management we feel confident it will be successful.

Our schools during the past year, have generally been well conducted; yet in the discharge of our duties we have observed defects in their management. To remove these defects, and thus secure the best returns for the large amount of money expended should command the best efforts of all. We are fully satisfied that the one great need is teachers possessing the requisite ability and training. Under the present system, this can be secured only by the united efforts of the Agents and Committee. In the last annual report, notice was given that a change in Readers was necessary. We have made that change and feel confident that no futher change in text-books need be made for a long time. This is a matter placed by law in the hands of the committee. Much of the trouble heretofore has been caused by teachers introducing their favorite books. We therefore caution parents against purchasing any except those regularly authorized.

The Committee will be in session at the school house in District No. 6, on the first and last Saturdays of May, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the examination of teachers for Summer Schools; for Winter Schools, the first and last Saturdays in November, at the same place and hour.

The above table shows the number of scholars in each district; the number attending the Summer, Fall and Winter terms of school; the average attendance at same; the length of each term; the wages of male teachers per month, and of female teachers per week; and price of board, so far as could be obtained from registers returned.

We also give a few additional facts in relation to each school.

REPORT OF S. S. COMMITTEE.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Summer Term. The order was fair, but the teacher failed to properly class the school, therefore the term was not a profitable one. The Winter Term now in session. At our first visit it showed signs of being a profitable term.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Summer Term. At our first visit the school was in good condition for work, but at the final examination we were disappointed. The order was satisfactory but there was a lack of thoroughness. Fall Term. The order was deficient, but the progress made in the various branches taught, was commendable. The class in mental arithmetic especially deserve praise. The Winter Term is in progress. At the first examination it was found to be in very good condition. The District was fortunate in securing the services of Mr. McDonald.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Summer Term. This was one of the best schools in town, and was conducted to our entire satisfaction. Winter Term. The order was good, recitation, fair. The teacher and scholars spoke very low and could hardly be heard across the school room.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Summer and Fall Terms. The Summer and Fall Terms were taught by the same teacher. At our first visit the school appeared well, and the final examination showed that the money had been judiciously expended. The Winter term is now in session.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Summer and Fall Terms. Each term was governed with ability and success. The teacher was efficient in her methods of instruction and good progress was made in the various studies. The Winter term now in session. We visited it near the commencement and were satisfied that it would be judiciously governed and instructed.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

During the year, in most cases, teachers have been employed possessing sufficient experience and ability to enable them to give systematic and thorough instruction. The first term was attended with earnestness on the part of the teacher and satisfactory improvement was apparent at the close. The teacher in the Fall term was very skillful in her methods of giving instruction and the effort to advance her scholars, was attended with success. The Winter term has recently closed and the studies included some of the higher branches taught in our common schools. At the close, good progress was apparent and the discipline highly commendable.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Summer and Fall terms were taught by Miss Cressey, who is an able and experienced teacher, possessing skill and tact in managing a school and imparting instruction. The scholars were attentive and studious. These elements combined produced excellent results. The Winter term is still in session under a faithful and competent teacher. It was visited near its commencement and found to be doing well, showing unmistakable signs of profitableness.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

The Summer term was visited but once at which time its appearance was not satisfactory. The order was not good; the teaching was faulty. The teacher did not seem to have any direct method either in assigning lessons or conducting recitations. There are some very good scholars in this District. Fall Term. At our first visit we found the teacher making faithful endeavors to restore order and secure thoroughness and application on the part of his pupils and the appearance of the school at our final visit indicated a degree of success as creditable to teacher and scholars as it was gratifying to us. The Winter term is still in session. It was visited on the sixth day. The teacher, though inexperienced, is a thorough scholar and we liked his manner of giving instruction. With the exception of a slight appearance of disorder we saw nothing to prevent a successful term.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Summer Term. This school is small and rather backward and the school-house altogether uninviting, yet the teacher by her zeal and faithfulness succeeded in awakening such a degree of interest in her scholars that good progress was made. The Winter term has not yet closed but has been visited twice. The teacher is untiring in his efforts and evidently has the sympathy of his scholars.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Summer Term. As we were not notified of the time of its close, in season, but one visit was made, consequently we are unable to speak of the improvement made. The Winter term has been visited but once, when we predicted profitable results.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Summer and Fall Terms. Miss Thompson brought to her work good ability, combined with energy in teaching. The discipline was not quite to our satisfaction. With this exception the school appeared well. The Winter term is still in session, and knowing the teacher to be thoroughly competent, we feel safe in warranting a successful school.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

The Winter term is about to close, when Miss Hamlin will have completed four terms of service in this District. At our several visits we have found the scholars attentive and the teacher striving for their advancement. There has been a marked improvement under her instruction.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

It would be much in favor of this school to say it was conducted with Miss Haskell's accustomed ability. But as she received the hearty support of the parents as well as scholars, a degree of success was attained which we have rarely witnessed. We earnestly commend the Agent's wisdom in securing a good teacher and keeping her through the year.

In our last annual report, we called attention to the difficulty of obtaining suitable teachers. Notwithstanding the suggestion there made it is still apparent that no great progress has been made toward the removal of the difficulty. As more than 28 per cent of all the money annually collected of the taxpayers of this town is for the support of schools, it is a matter of vital importance to those who bear this burden, that the best possible use be made of it. Neither they nor those for whose benefit it is levied can afford to have it wasted upon incompetent teachers We feel it to be incumbent upon us to make such recommendation as in our judgment will tend to prevent such waste. Our experience and observation have forced upon us the conclusion that any system which does not place the employment of teachers in the hands of those who are to determine their qualifications, is essentially wrong. This proposition appears to us to be so plain that it cannot fail to impress itself upon the minds of all who will give it thoughtful and candid consideration. Under the present system, teachers are all hired before being examined. This is contrary to all business rules and practices For the thirteen schools, thirteen teachers are engaged by as many different Agents, and if they were all to appear for examination and any of the number should be found incompetent and should be rejected, to say nothing of the trouble caused by the delay, the chances of securing better teachers would not be great; hence the only alternative is to choose the least of two evils. Many teachers unavoidably get into schools without any examination and usually these are just the ones who should be kept out. The school laws provide that the Committee "shall (unless the Town vote otherwise,) employ teachers for the several Districts in the Town." While we do not advance the idea that the proposed change would remove all the above named evils, yet we are confident that not only these, but numerous others of scarcely less magnitude, would commence to grow smaller by degrees and beautifully less. It may be said that we are advocating the taking of power from School Agents, and putting it into our own hands, but we feel that the importance of the interests involved is sufficient excuse, if any be needed.

The Committee will be in session at the school house in District No. 6, on the first Saturday of May, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the examination of teachers for Summer schools; for Winter schools, the last Saturday in Oct., at the same place and hour.

		Orville S. Sanborn. Standish,

The following is a brief statement relating to the management of each term of school.

REPORT OF S. S. COMMITTEE.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Summer Term. At our first visit we found the teacher doing good work. At the last examination we were satisfied with the improvement made. Winter Term is still in session. At our first visit we found the teacher laboring hard for the advancement of his pupils.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Summer and Fall Terms. A fair degree of interest was manifested by teacher and scholars. The Winter Term is still in session.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Summer Term. This district was fortunate in securing the services of so thorough, competent and wide awake teacher as Miss Robinson. This was her second term in No. 3, and her fourth in town. We hope to find her employed during the coming year in one of our larger schools. Fall Term. This district was again fortunate in the selection of their teacher for the Fall term of school. Commendable progress was made in all branches taught, especially in algebra and bookkeeping. Would all Agents be as careful about employing teachers as was the Agent in No. 3, our schools would show a much more rapid progress than is now manifested.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Summer Term. The teacher well classed her school, and evidently made earnest endeavors to give instruction in a manner such as would prove creditable to herself and the good of the school. Fair order was maintained and we were much gratified with the progress attained in study—the result of well directed efforts on the part of teacher and scholars. Fall Term On account of ill health, Miss Cartland was obliged to leave this term at the end of the eighth week. It was then placed in care of Miss Robinson, who proved a very suitable teacher for the situation. She brought to her work good ability, and in managing the school and imparting instruction performed her duties with fidelity.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Summer and Fall Terms. Although the teacher has had but small experience in teaching, yet she succeeded well in the government and instruction of her charge. There were but few in attendance at our final visit, yet the appearance of the school fully satisfied us that her work had been thorough and seconded by her pupils. The Winter term is in session in care of a competent teacher.

We visited it on the first day when her labors were thoroughly applied and the scholars attentive, thus commencing with excellent prospects of a successful school. There are good scholars here, who are deserving of much praise for the prosperous condition of the school.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Summer Term. At our first visit we found 51 scholars present,—mostly small—very uneasy and restless, the teacher laboring hard to control and interest them in their work. At our final visit we were pleased to find that he had succeeded in so doing, the scholars appearing orderly and studious; the teaching thorough and efficient. Mr. Frink, owing to his faithful labors during the first term, was enabled to commence the next under circumstances much more favorable, and as a result, this term greatly exceeded the former in usefulness, leaving the school at its close, in excellent condition. We very much regretted to lose Mr. Frink's services. Winter Term. This term, although short, was not wanting in good results. The closing examination gave evidence of fidelity and pains-taking on the part of the teacher and most of the scholars. Some excellent work was done in map drawing.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

At our last examination we were satisfied that the money had been profitably expended. The teacher labored hard for the advancement of her pupils and succeeded admirably. The Winter term is still in session.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Summer and Fall Terms. Miss Hamlin is a teacher of large experience and good reputation, and we bear cheerful testimony to the fact that her work in this district has raised, rather than lowered, that reputation. Winter Term. Mr. Hanson is thoroughly qualified for the work of teaching. Here he found an excellent school—parents and scholars fully interested in its success. The first examination satisfied us that this school is second to none in town.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Summer Term. Miss Davis secured the esteem and good will of her pupils at the very first, and retained it throughout the entire term, thus rendering it easy to control their conduct, and direct their energies. The attendance was regular, interest well sustained and improvement good. Winter Term. Mr. Waterhouse's services last winter proved so acceptable to the district that a second "call" was extended to him. His management of the school this winter fully demonstrated the wisdom of such a course. His discipline was good, teaching correct, and as a result substantial improvement was made. Mr. Waterhouse is one of our very best teachers.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Miss Berry, who has been employed in each term during the year, possesses good teaching ability, and has succeeded well in awakening and sustaining the interest of her scholars. While there has been evidence of careful teaching in the various studies pursued, a degree of order has been apparent that well commends her efforts in this direction. The classes in reading deserve especial commendation.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Summer Term. Miss Thompson had taught here before, and her labors were characterized by thoroughness; her method of conducting recitations is rarely surpassed by any of our teachers. At our only visit to this term, she was laboring with the same efficiency as formerly, and her efforts apparently much appreciated by her pupils. As the average attendance was quite high, we doubt not the interest of the school was well sustained, and the money apportioned to this term judiciously expended. Fall and Winter terms. Mr. Strout has taught here two winters before, and the condition of the school at our several visits, has to a good degree justified his employment in the present year. He is a teacher of large experience and has well adapted his instruction to the capacities and attainments of his scholars, and has done much to encourage a persevering effort in study. He has had a full attendance and some in the high branches, and we hope to find at the close, the work to have been as successful as has been his teaching here in previous years.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

Summer and Fall Terms. Miss Spear is a graduate of the Gorham Normal School, and, in addition to the special training there received, possesses many qualities requisite for a successful teacher—an ardent love for her work and great skill and tact in governing and instructing. As might be expected the school received lasting benefit from her. Winter Term. Miss Hamlin tried to interest and benefit her pupils, but some of them showed a determination not to be benefited, which made the term unpleasant for the teacher and profitless to them. Those scholars who made as much effort to improve, as the teacher did for their improvement, were well repaid for so doing. This school needs to be put in charge of a live man.

DISTRICT NO. 13.

Summer and Fall Terms. Miss Parker did not seem lacking in ability or effort, but there seemed to be almost a total lack of effort by the scholars, for some reason not apparent to us. At the several visits made, that same listlessness and inattention displayed itself. We are confident that the cause of this sad state of affairs was chiefly outside the school room, as the attendance during both terms was irregular. The Winter term is still in session under a tried and experienced teacher, and we confidently look for good results.

The success of our schools depends upon parents, teachers and scholars. The above, if not an axiom, is a proposition so plain that a bare statement of it is sufficient. We meet the teachers and scholars in the school room, and some of the teachers come before us for examination. But these pages afford our only means of reaching the parents. Hence we take this opportunity to urge upon them the magnitude and importance of their responsibilities. No person should be employed as teacher who has not a thorough understanding of the branches to be taught, an exhaustless fund of general knowledge, and either a careful and systematic training for the business, or experience in the work. He ought to have that love for his calling which will cause him to give his whole time to what may, and should be, a pleasant employment, instead of doling out six hours a day to an irksome task, as profitless to scholars, as it is unpleasant to him. Parents: if such teachers are to be secured you must attend to it. And, having obtained suitable teachers, if the scholars are to receive the benefit of their services, you are to see to that also. The average attendance during any one term of school for the year, will not exceed fifty per cent. of the whole number of scholars, and for the summer term will fall much below that. This is a matter entirely within control of the parents. We close by adding that we firmly believe it to be in the power of parents and voters of this town to enhance the usefulness of our schools fully one-half. But in order to do this they must lay aside all prejudice and give voice and vote only in accordance with their calm and enlightened judgment.

The Committee will meet at the school house in District No 6, on the last Saturday of April, at 2 o'clock P. M., to examine teachers for Summer schools; and on the first Saturday of November at the place and hour above mentioned, to examine teachers for Winter schools.
